4 PRIESTS
SHOT AFTER QUARREL

Pocahontas, Ark., June 20.—

Four priests and one lay church official were wounded when unidentified persons fired into the home of the Rev. Father Herringer of the English Catholic Church, five miles north of here, according to information received here. The house was riddled.

The injured are: Father Strauss, of Jonesboro, shot in neck and shoulder; Father Herringer, of Pocahontas, shot in neck; Father Herringer, of English, flesh wound; Father Froelich, of Pocahontas, shot in leg; Joe Bruner, lay church official, shot in back.

Three youths, Burton Knott, Henry Danahy and his younger brother were arrested. Bruner was the most severely wounded. Nineteen shots struck him in the back and his condition is regarded as serious. The priests and Bruner were gathered around a table checking some reports when the firing began. The attack followed a church conference which terminated a church social. It was some time afterward that the attack on the house took place.

Aged Atlanta Capitalist Who
Jilted New Orleans Beauty
Marries Today

Atlanta, Ga., June 20.—Asa G. Candler, Sr., aged 72, multimillionaire and founder of the Coca Cola Company, and Mrs. May Little Ragin, a stenographer, will be married here today.

The ceremony will be in the chapel of the Theological Building at Emory University. Immediately after the wedding the couple will leave for Washington.

Mrs. Onelina De Bouchelle, the "ravage beauty" of New Orleans, and Candler, were principals in one of the greatest romances ever known.

JILTS SOUTHERN BEAUTY. Their wedding was to have taken place last year at Reno, where the bride-to-be gained a divorce from Adolph Roquet, New Orleans insurance man. Their love ship was to have steamed to Hawaii's moonlight beaches for a honeymoon. Mrs. De Bouchelle selected Ukuleland for the honeymoon.

Mrs. De Bouchelle comes of an ancient French family, descended from French nobility. She is nearly forty years of age. Her beauty is of the blonde and Norman type. Her tall figure, vivacity and grace.

AIR, IS RESCUED

Hundreds of Lynn shoe workers (from death) through quick action by passing Summer and Vine streets. The other man, who stood behind Leeman on the pole, saw the latter's head come into contact with a live wire. Immediately he reached up, pulled Leeman down and broke the contact. Leeman, who was in a dazed condition, was carried to the ground and rushed to Lynn Hospital. There it was found he was unhurt.

DISOWNED, BROKE, FRIENDLESS AND TRIES TO KILL SELF

Disowned by his family alone in a strange city and without friends, Apollon Leeman, aged thirty, of Forestville, Me., first a shot through his abdomen in a lodging house room at No. 48 Huntington Avenue, Back Bay. At City Hospital, he is expected to die.

The police found a note in his room. It read: "My mother and father are in Forestville, Me., where they own a cafe. Please send my body home to be buried."

Frank C. A. Meyers, postgraduate, declined to accept his degree of Master of Arts. The twelve others turned down their B. A. (Bachelor of Arts) degrees.

The action of the graduates followed the resignation of Professor Alexander Madsen, head of the university, and was in protest against the conservative element of the faculty.

When 10,000 Fly
Any Farmer's Surplus?
Making Religion Pay
The Fight on Cancer

Copyright, 1932, Blue Co.

RUSSIA HAS a standing army of 400,000 men. A year from now, Trotsky announces, Russia will have 10,000 well-equipped fighting flying machines. The rest of Europe may hear from those machines.

Their coming would be different from that of the old Hunn wandering from east to west on their little ponies. Trotsky's fliers would come with a buzzing that would worry the whole of Europe.

PRESIDENT HARDING, in a "key-note" for 1932, announced that his able Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon, has been really saving money, and has a surplus of two hundred million dollars.

This year the government will spend two hundred and thirty-four million less than last year. That's good financing. Mr. Harding chose the right secretary for the Treasury.

But still there is the farm bloc, and its leaders will ask, not how much money the Treasury has left, after paying its bills, but how much the farmer has left after paying his bills.

TRINITY CHURCH looks on Wall Street and Wall Street looks in on Trinity Church. And musing there, in hour alone, you realize that Christianity can be made as profitable as stocks if you know how.

TRINITY CHURCH says that its income for 1932 was $1,349,730. Clergyman on regular staff were paid $78,758.24. Temporary clerical help cost $2,434.32. Parish visitors and such, $5,592.50. Music, musicians and choir got $50,664.46. Light and coal cost $28,122.25; rent of a home for the chief clergyman, $7,550.26.

THAT FINANCIAL report, which is in heaven by now, must be interesting to the spirit that said: "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the son of man hath no where to lay his head." Seven thousand dollars for rent is a considerable improvement on a fox's hole, or a bird's nest.

ONE BIG ITEM for insurance seems a sound investment. It would seem wiser to rely on a miracle or special Providence to protect that institution from lightning or ordinary fires.

PHILADELPHIA DOCTORS will try an X-ray, 300,000 volts, in cancer treatment. Hitherto the most powerful ray applied to a human body has been 250,000 applied to a woman suffering from cancer of the stomach.

Invincible, mysterious particles thrown from radium, at speed that would take them seven times around the earth in a second, go through the body.

THE THEORY is that healthy tissue will safely endure the terrific bombardment, while abnormal cancer tissues will perish.

It is the same process as slapping the back of your hand hard enough to kill a mosquito, not hard enough to break the hand.

At present the X-ray seems the only hope for treatment of cancer beyond the reach of surgery.

A CASHIER in Kansas states a million and a half to gamble in oil stock. Who should lose that money, the bank, honest stockholders and depositors, or the brokers and others that took the stolen money without asking where it came?

Even the Eighteenth Amendment and a Supreme Court decision can be twisted to look like a doughnut when you really want to twist them.

DOWN THE FLANKS of Mt. Etna lava is pouring in streams one mile wide, fifty feet deep. Hamlets, vineyards, roads are covered by the moving stream. Soon it will cool. The houses and vineyards will be locked up in solid stone. Until Gabriel's trumpet or man's dynamite comes to release them.

The soil will form out of the cold lava, and more vineyards will be planted, and more houses built.

MRS. GARDNER'S STATUE NAMED AS "FAKE"

Testimony in Paris is that this statue, supposed to be fifteenth century terra cotta, was made in recent years by a Frenchman.

FENWAY COURT STATUE CALLED IMITATION

Somewhere among the priceless possessions of Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston is a statue of the Virgin and Child, purported to be a very valuable antique.

As a matter of fact, the statue was made in recent years in a little shop in the Rue D'Orléans, Paris, by an artist who could make several others within a week. In fact, another virgin and child of the same type is in possession of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

These facts were made public today at the investigation of the spurious antiquities trust in Paris, which has revealed that millions of dollars have been expended by wealthy Americans for antiques are fully manufactured. Jean, Vigneux, testifying in the investigation, even gave the name of the sculptor who made the statues which were sold to Mrs. Gardner and the New York Museum as antiques.

His efforts sold to the Louvre, Vigneux testified, were spurious. Joseph De Motte, a former New York antiquities dealer who sold the statues, insists they are genuine antiques.

BOWMAN HOTELS IN BIG MERGER

New York, June 28.—A merger involving several of the largest hotels in New York, New London, Florida and Havana, as well as the Westchester-Biltmore Country Club at Hyde, is being planned by the Bowman interests, which now control those properties.

The consolidation will involve the issuance of stock valued at between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 and will include the Commodore, Biltmore, Belmont and Ansonia hotels in this city, the Grosvenor Hotel in New London, the Bellevue in Baltimore, Fla.; the Seville-Biltmore at Havana, and the Country Club at Hyde. Ultimately, associated properties such as the Las Americas in Havana, the Providence Biltmore and the Atlantic Biltmore hotel will be taken in. The Grosvenor Hotel in New London, the Commodore-Biltmore company and the World Traveler Publishing Company.

The hotels are expected to benefit materially through single purchases for fuel.

DELOIR FACING COURT

Suspected Slayer, Adjudged Insane, Is Reindicted and Goes on Trial

Montreal, June 28.—In the historic room of the King's Bench, Adolphe Deloier, former priest, charged with the murder of his half-brother, Raoul in January, 1922, today begins his fight for his life.

Under the ruling of Chief Justice Levesque, the curious public has been denied admittance.

More than three-score witnesses have been summoned and a large number of witnesses called, as it is expected much difficulty will be experienced in the selection of a jury. The former priest will be cross-examined by Robert L. Calver, Crown Prosecutor, and his defense will be in the hands of Allyn Tachéroux of Quebec, C. A. Chan of Montreal, and another attorney whose name has not been announced.

MAY BAR DETECTIVE.

The status of Detective Lajoie, star witness for the Crown, may be questioned. He recently published a book based on his investigations, giving many details of the murder of Raoul Deloier.

The case has been one of the most sensational in Canadian courts. After his arrest and indictment last year, Deloier was, after a long series of postponements, declared insane by a corps of alienists and adjudged so by a jury.

Sent to an asylum, he later was interdicted and declared incompetent to conduct his defense.

HISTORY OF CHURCH.

One June 11 he was arraigned, pleaded not guilty and the trial set for today.

Raoul Deloier, twenty-four-year-old student, was found shot to death on the outskirts of Montreal January 8, 1922. Bloodstains were found on the automobile of Father Deloier. Raoul, it was then learned, had taken out an insurance policy for $25,000 four days before his death at the direction of his clerical half-brother, who was named beneficiary in his will.

PARIS HEARS MELLON ON SECRET MISSION

Paris, June 28.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon is coming to Europe for the secret purpose of trying to settle the reparations problem, the Folio in Paris declares. The newspaper says that Mellon will confer with the heads of the Treasury of the great British and French empires.

The purpose of finding an acceptable solution to the reparations and interest debt problem, the Folio says, is to be achieved by the two nations.

Things that are holding back progress of Europe, "Mellon, who is worth a billion dollars, obviously is America's principal financial giant," says the paper.

Secretary Mellon

will bars two sons from big colleges

Buffalo, June 28.—By their father's will, George W. Pierce, nine, and Daniel C. Pierce, fifteen, of Hamburg are excluded from entering a large college. The will of Daniel Pierce, the father, was made in surrogate's court here today.

A provision states: "I have served to a definite conclusion that it is by no means a safe plan of education to send a son to any of the large colleges, and it is my wish that my sons be sent to such a college, provided that they are able to obtain an education as good as at the same time as at the quality of the man produced."

Mussolini Warns of Call to Arms to Put Down Foes

Florence, Italy, June 29 (I.N.S.)—Premier Benito Mussolini today warned his political enemies that force may be used if they become too aggressive in their agitation.

"Let none abuse our generosity, for we would interfere with force," said the Premier. "If remnants of our old customs reappear upon the political stage I would call out the Black Shirts (Fascists), many of whom already are in the patient."

BANDIT CAPTIVES SUE CHINESE

Peking, June 28 (I.N.S.)—Indemnity from China, growing out of the Lin-ching bandit outrage have been formulated by the foreign diplomatic corps and are awaiting the approval of the various governments involved, according to information obtained today.

It is understood that the claims are to be filed under two heads—boundary losses, thereby, robbery and indemnity for actual injuries and mental anguish suffered by the kidnapped victims.

Later, at police headquarters, the murder

Slayer Bares Life as 'Cabaret Girl'

Chicago, June 28.—The smiling slayer of Richard C. Tesmer, wealthy Chicago insurance man, is in jail today, not the blue-eyed girl bandit, whom the police expected to find, but a man who, for thirteen years, has lived the dual role of man and woman.

In all that time he was the ideal "wife" of the man in whose home he was arrested, although there was nothing to indicate that the husband had been deceived by the masquerade.

Alfred in one of his feminine costumes, his dress, wig, showing signs of the fashion's bobbed hair under the latest military creation, he was taken immediately before Mrs. Tesmer, even before the identity of the man was established.

DENIES HE IS SLAYER.

The police had ordered the man to smile at Mrs. Tesmer in attempting to identify him. She was the slayer.

Later, at police headquarters, the murder

where detectives questioned him in connection with the slaying, a whole lot of board began gradually to slip through the layers of powder and rouge on the prisoner's face. The authorities were frankly puzzled until the man defiantly stated in a high, falsetto voice that he had two natures and he had made use of them.

The suspect, who calls himself Fred C. Thompson and Mrs. F. Thompson, denied all knowledge of the slaying and said he would be able to prove an alibi.

WORKED IN CABARETS.

He said he was born in Reynoldsburg, O., really means an orphan and came to Chicago as a runaway boy.

"I find a feminine streak in me I couldn't shake off even as a kid," he said. "And when I got home I got some girl's clothes and began working in cabarets. Everybody thought I was a girl."

Thompson declared he was homesick from somewhere, the night of

SMUGGLER HUNT ON BORDER

Guard of 100 Picked Men Is Planned to Stop Opioids and Liquor Traffic

Washington, June 29 (I.N.S.)—Creation of an American border patrol of 1,000 picked men-hunters, with full police powers, is being considered by Government officials as a drastic means of closing the country's borders to international smugglers.

The border patrol would be along the 3,000 miles of Canadian frontier and the 100,000 miles of land and sea facing Mexico. It would be used to crush out the present, widespread smuggling of opium, booze, narcotics and customs across the two international borders.

AL SMITH WANTS PRESIDENCY OR NOTHING

French Lick, Ind., June 18.—According to politicians who have talked with Governor Smith during the last day he is spending here, in no circumstances will Smith accept another nomination for the governorship of New York. Either the White House or private life is his present decision.

Gov. Smith

Governor Smith has been urged to run for a third term at Albany in case the Democrats do not make him their National standard bearer next year. He has been told that as a candidate for third term he is doubtless would keep the State in the Democratic column and enable the party's nominee for President to capture New York's electoral vote.

This argument doesn't appeal to Mr. Smith. If he doesn't go higher politically his purpose is to return to the business world and pile up a competence for the benefit of his family.

June 19, 1919—June 19, 1923

On June 19, four years ago, this bank opened its doors for business with deposits of $1,150,000. The following table shows that our growth has been steady, consistent and rapid:

Deposits June 19, 1919, $1,150,000.00
Deposits June 19, 1920, 3,010,766.74
Deposits June 19, 1921, 3,372,135.45
Deposits June 19, 1922, 4,598,515.46
Deposits June 19, 1923, 6,279,396.16

Boston now has nineteen fewer banks than at the time this bank opened. This steady contraction in Boston's banking facilities points with ever increasing emphasis to the value of the independent bank of moderate size where the individual customer can get into personal touch with the bank's executive officers.

This need we are striving to fill, and that we are striving successfully, we believe, evidenced by our rapid and steady growth.

Our two offices are located in two of Boston's busiest commercial centres: at 179 Summer Street, in the heart of the great textile and leather districts, and at 148 State Street, at the junction of the financial and commission districts. At both offices we give complete banking service, commercial, savings and safe deposit; and at both we welcome all who are interested to learn what we have to offer them.

With these strategic locations, and with a personnel alive to grasp the banking problems of our clients and eager to co-operate in advancing their interests, we look forward to a greatly enlarged sphere of usefulness.

If you are considering a new banking connection, we invite you to call on us and talk the matter over. Or, if you prefer, we shall be glad to send a representative to your office.

COX PRESENTS SEC. WEEKS IS HONORED BY DEGREES AT HOLY CROSS

Worcester, June 18.—Governor Channing H. Cox made the award of honorary degree and presented the diploma to the record class of 181 at the Holy Cross College commencement today. The recipients of honorary degrees were:

Doctor of Laws—Governor William S. Fynn of Rhode Island, Rev. Bernard S. Conaty of Pittsfield, Vice-Chancellor of the Springfield diocese, and John F. Gannon, superintendent of schools of Pittsfield.

Master of Arts—Rev. Francis Walsh of Dover, Rev. William J. Hilly of Belmont, John F. Tinsley of Worcester and Oliver L. Baril of Spencer.

Master of science—Thomas E. Roman of Atlanta, Pa.

Governor Cox commented on the progressiveness of the present age. "We live in days of amazing development," the Governor said. "We may pick up a morning newspaper and read the important happenings of the day before in the whole civilized world. We may sit in our homes and listen to voices coming through the air from faraway places. We may reproduce the noise of airplanes who are dead. So accustomed are we to the unexpected that we pause but a moment as we read that men have hopped off the Atlantic coast in an airplane which carried them in a day without stop to the Pacific."

Gum-Dipped Cords Continue to Set the Pace

Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords have not only won acknowledged leadership but are increasing it steadily. Here are a few points about the outstanding success of these tires that explain why Firestone dealers have the biggest values on the market in Gum-Dipped Cords.

- 1 LOWER PRICES
Firestone has successfully championed the cause of lower tire costs against the Crude Rubber monopoly and was first to give our owners the benefit in a 10% price reduction on June 11th.
- 2 194% Sales Increase
Firestone has utilized big volume production to lower manufacturing costs and give extra value. And the public is responding by buying three Firestone Cords to one a year ago.
- 3 Winners At Indianapolis
Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords gave striking proof of superiority in the 500-Mile Sweepstakes when they took the first four places and eight out of ten money positions on May 30th, without a single tire failure.
- 4 The New Mileage Standard
Firestone Cords are proving on the cars of hundreds of thousands of motorists and on taxicab fleets that gum dipping and other Firestone processes raise the standard of mileage to a new high level.
- 5 108 Distributing Points
Firestone has developed a finer, more economical distributing organization, replacing many costly branches with warehouses. There are now 108 points from which Firestone Tires are delivered to the thousands of Firestone dealers.
- 6 Best for Hot Weather Driving
Gum-Dipped Cords are showing that they stand up better under the harder wear of summer driving. The gum-dipping process overcomes the deteriorating effect of heat and friction and adds thousands of extra miles of service.

MASKS AND CAPES SOLE APPAREL OF REVELERS AT PARIS BALL

HUNDREDS FROM U. S. ATTEND

Well Known Stage and Society Figures Attempt to Conceal Names

Universal Service Cable.
Paris, June 20.—Hundreds of Americans, many well known on the stage and in society, frantically endeavored to prevent their presence at the Four Arts Ball from becoming known.

Limousines filled with beautiful women, whose apparel in many cases was confined to masks and capes, the former were to conceal their identity, drove up at Luna Park, where the annual art students' orgy of pleasure was being held.

Thousands in line.
Police have thousands of scantily-clad revelers in line as their credentials were being examined at the gate. Those who were thrown out of the park after the scene reached a point where no being admitted were sternly ordered by the police to wear their coats tightly buttoned on their way home.

The scene inside the ball, where everyone was supposed to be clad in the costume of Pompeii, defied description.

900 UNCLOTTED WOMEN.
Thousands mingled, it was estimated that among the revelers were not less than 900 almost totally unclad women, many carried on high by young students. At this stage of the affair most Americans seemed to have almost immediately declared that they had no "Que Vadis" was half as bad as this.

Thousands of Americans paid fabulous prices for tickets of admission, only to be thrown out because they exhibited pronounced the basic word.

DOCTOR WITNESS IN WOMAN POISON CASE

Newark, N. J., June 20.—Dr. Thomas Boyle, physician who attended Charles Raymond Avery, 18, for whose murder the youth's sister, Mrs. Mary E. Creighton, and her husband, John, are on trial here, testified he was convinced Avery died of poisoning.

Dr. Boyle told of the boy's last illness, from the time he was taken into an April 2 to the moment at midnight April 29, when he rushed to the Creighton home to find his patient dead.

In the dim light of the hall that night, he testified, Mrs. Creighton asked him: "Doctor, do you think Raymond could have had a love affair?"

"I laughed it off," Dr. Boyle said.

The fire spread rapidly, and Gould was forced to flee.

Gould was seen running through the forest, carrying only his shirt and trousers.

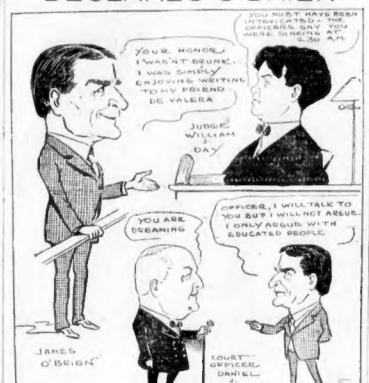

The fire was extinguished by the arrival of fire trucks.

The Gould estate is located in the town of Needham Heights.

The fire caused an estimated loss of $100,000.

NOT "LIT UP," HAPPY DECLARES O'BRIEN

"IRISH THRUSH" DEFENDS SELF IN COURT
James O'Brien was accused of annoying his neighbors by singing, a la Kinky Shiner, in the early hours. He told Judge Day that he was 100% sober from being intoxicated; instead he was only enjoying himself in the task of composing a letter to his good friend De Valera. Nevertheless he was fined $10.

CHILD TO ENTERTAIN AT K. C. CONCERT

Miss Josephine Leonard, talented eight-year-old South Boston child, will be one of the featured entertainers at the concert next Sunday evening in the concert hall, Broadway, South Boston, in aid of the Irish party for St. Malachy's Church. She will appear in a specialty number. Her sweet-voiced brother, Jimmy, will sing at the same concert.

The program will be in charge of the Glee Club of Pere Marquette College, Knights of Columbus, directed by Lloyd Chase, C.

O'BRIEN FINED FOR SERENADE TO DE VALERA

James O'Brien, the "Irish Thrush," again is in trouble with the police. This time, O'Brien, who has become famous for his rapid-fire cross-examinations of his complainants, was before Judge William J. Day of the South Boston Court, charged with disturbing the peace and drunkenness. He was found guilty and fined $10. Patrolman Reilly arrested O'Brien after neighbors had reported that a "songbird" was disturbing their sleep in the early hours.

When Reilly testified that he found a bottle of "moonshine" on the table when he entered the defendant's home, O'Brien jumped up and said, "How do you know it was liquor? Did you drink any of it?"

"No," said the officer, "it had to have been intoxicated as you were."

"You have no proof, then, that it was liquor?" O'Brien quipped.

When O'Brien was on the stand Judge Day said to him: "You must have been intoxicated if you were singing at 2:30 in the morning as the officer said you were."

"Your Honor, I wasn't drunk," said the defendant. "I was just singing to enjoy myself. I was writing to De Valera. He is a friend of mine."

WASHINGTON ELM IS DOOMED

HISTORIC TREE NEAR DEATH

The Washington elm, that majestic spread of green under which the father of his country took command of the Continental troops, is withering to death. Nothing can be done to save the historic tree, for it is just a case of death from old age, so Professor Charles S. Sargent of the Arnold Arboretum, informed the Canadian city fathers. The city of Cambridge does not take the news placidly, for the loss of the only living link with the glorious past.

COUST BRIDAL PAIR FROM 'LOVE NEST'

Co-operative Tenants Lose in Apartment House Deal;
Plan Court Fight

If Mr. and Mrs. Simon Friedman, of No. 26 Park Vale avenue, Allston, can locate some good houseboat, far away from shore, they may get over their grouse induced by their flight in co-operative apartment owning.

There seems to be no other way out.

Friedman's are one of five tenants of the building who invested some $5,000 in the co-operative purchase of apartments at the Allston address, under the plan introduced during the war. The other four invested their savings in the project to get homes. For the Friedmans it was a love nest they invested in. They were newly married when they moved into the apartment.

Now, five months married, they have been ordered out, together with their co-venturers.

INVESTED THEIR SAVINGS.

In some manner they have been unable to determine, the co-operative purchasers have been ousted, they have lost their investments, they have lost all their title to the property and it came like a bolt out of a clear sky.

Young Mrs. Adelaide Friedman said today:

"We picked out the place before we were married. We thought it was an excellent way to anticipate possible housing problems which might arise later on. You know how it is."

"Then, all of a sudden, we found that the Newton Savings Bank had foreclosed a first mortgage, and we were all ordered out. We are not going to submit to that sort of thing. We have gotten together and will demand a court investigation."

"Why our neighbor, Mrs. Grace H. Bouter, invested all the money she had in the world in her apartment, and now she is faced with eviction like the rest of us. And she has a sick daughter to take care of."

TENANTS PLAN FIGHT.

Mrs. Friedman admitted the co-operative purchasers had not paid any rent since the foreclosure of the mortgage.

"We didn't know who to pay the rent to," she said. "When we invested our money a man named Ernest A. Knight seemed to be the man who started it. It was Mr. Knight who negotiated the purchase of the suites, two years ago."

"Then he resigned as a member of the committee that handled the matter. He resigned, I understand, after another of the tenants called him a liar."

"Then E. Arthur Robinson of Auburndale took charge. Then one Samuel Winberg of Chelsea bought the property. Then he transferred his rights to a Miss Eva Gilman of Cambridge. Miss Gilman, we learned, was holding the property for her father. We didn't know who to deal with, who to pay rent to. We were entirely in the dark."

"And then we got notice to leave. But we're not going to—without a good fight."

CUPID A LOSER IN CO-OPERATIVE HOME

Simon Friedman, of No. 26 Park Vale avenue, Allston, bride of five months, who, with four other tenants, bought the house on a co-operative plan. The Friedmans furnished the suite as a "love nest." Now the tenants have been ousted from ownership and have lost their investment. A foreclosed mortgage brought about this and led to the venture. The tenants will fight in court. Bottom photo is view of the house. Inset is summons for Friedman to appear in court and tell why he refuses to get out.

EPILEPTIC GIRL MAY SUCCUMB TO POISON

Although Mrs. Annie Fallon of No. 17 Field street, Roxbury, snatched a bottle of iodine from the mouth of her daughter, Annie, who was drinking its contents, it is alleged, with suicidal intent, the girl's name is on the danger list at the City Hospital.

Miss Fallon is twenty-five years old and is an epileptic, she was recuperating from a long illness and it is believed despondency over her sickness caused her to attempt suicide.

The girl was in a rear room. Her mother and her younger sister, Frances, seventeen years old, were in the next room. They heard a scream and Mrs. Fallon rushed in just in time to snatch the bottle of iodine from her daughter. In the act, Mrs. Fallon herself was splattered with iodine over her arm and face and she is under the care of a physician.

Spineless Business Man "Worse Than Mob"

St. Louis, June 20. (A. Havens of Kansas City asserted at today's session of the International Rotary.

"Every community is what its business men make it. In promoting codes of business ethics around the world, Rotary is striving to do away with that class of false nation that honor can be passive; that right can exist without action."

THREAT TO KILL BY ELOPER

Alleged Lawrence Slayer Accused by Witness of Remark After Discovery by Husband

Lawrence, June 20.—Cyrille Vandehoeke, alleged slayer of John Shureman, faced with utter calm his accuser, Mrs. Sophie Shureman Bayart, widow of the slain man, at the opening of his trial in Superior Criminal Court here.

Mrs. Bayart, known to the court as Mrs. Shureman, entered court carrying a three-month-old infant by a marriage contracted since the murder of her first husband.

Neighbors held the infant, while the woman, in an unbecomingly manner, related to the court the story of her husband's murder, and the series of events leading up to it.

THREE SHOTS FIRED

On the night of the shooting, August 9, 1918, according to Mrs. Shureman's story, Vandehoeke entered her home and fired three shots at her husband. As she fled from the house, she said, Vandehoeke sent two bullets after her, one of which grazed her breast.

She first met Vandehoeke, she testified, while the two were employed in the same factory. He often "kissed" her at their home, while her husband was away, she said.

ELOPED UNDER THREAT

One day, she declared, Vandehoeke came to her house and demanded that she elope, threatening to kill her if she refused. Frightened, she said, she assented and followed him to Philadelphia. There they lived together in a room for several days until her husband and brother arrived and persuaded her to go back with them, she testified.

Physicians to Be Trained With Aid of Funds of John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Boston is to be the centre of a big clue for the study and administration of insulin, the new treatment for diabetes, it was announced today.

Through the philanthropy of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the John Chittillon Company of New York, the New England Deaconess Hospital has been enabled to start an insulin centre in this city.

Announcement was made by William T. Rich, president of the New England Deaconess Association. While the statement is emphasized that insulin is not a cure for diabetes, it is pointed out that it enables the patient the proper physical condition without which a cure is impossible.

TO TRAIN DOCTORS.

The Deaconess Hospital has been able to make a specialty of the insulin treatment and of the instruction of doctors in it by a gift of $10,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has also given smaller sums to other centres in the United States.

Portions of the fund will go to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, the Boston City Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital, to prevent a rush of patients to the Deaconess Hospital.

Mr. Rockefeller's aim in making the gift was to increase the number of free ward patients who may be treated with insulin, and to teach physicians in general to practice the proper method of employing insulin in the treatment of diabetes.

Insulin is an active pancreatic extract discovered through the researches of Dr. F. G. Banting, which exercises a reducing influence upon the percentage of sugar in the blood.

In order to facilitate the instruction of Massachusetts doctors, the John Chittillon Company of New York city has made a gift of money to the Deaconess Hospital enabling it to give to 1,000 doctors or hospital men a pair of $100 glass scales for weighing food for diabetic patients, which may be obtained before August 1.

CLINICS FOR ALL

The Deaconess Hospital proposes the treatment of diabetes with and without insulin, Monday and Tuesday will run four days each week. If there is a demand for it, for one year.

On Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays there will be a lecture, clinic or food demonstration, beginning at 10 a. m. for one hour. During the next hour the treatment of individual patients will be discussed.

In the afternoon, for those who desire more detailed instruction in the conduct of a part of the teaching will be offered, Monday at 4 p. m. There will be no fee for the lectures, the laboratory instruction or the instruction in the diet.

Those who wish to have the cooperation of Dr. Frederick P. Jones, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, who will conduct a part of the teaching by means of his diabetic service, should call on Dr. H. P. O. Brigham, Dr. H. P. Root, Dr. L. L. Sisco and Dr. Elliott P. Joslin.

START THIS BIG, NEW STORY TODAY

Mona Fentress, young, beautiful and the wife of a consulting engineer, has been told by her physician, Bob Osterhout, who is in love with her, that she has only a short time to live. Mona gives a gay party, telling Pat to go to bed, but the latter borrows a sister's dress, steals downstairs and has "a taste of life." Constance goes dancing at the club and has fun, much purely. She is brought home by Fred Browning, with whom she had uneventfully spent the night. St. Thorpe gives Pat a "real" kiss. Mona dies and Constance receives a call from Cary Scott, her mother's first admirer. Scott is much taken with Pat. A party is planned for the Danforth's, to christen the new swimming pool. A thunder storm puts out the lights and the guests go into the water without clothes. Dr. modestly hesitates on the balcony and then the lights come on, revealing her in a blinding glare. One of the bathers is saved from drowning by Cary Scott. Wollaston, the electrician who turned on the lights, is a friend of Dr. Osterhout writes a letter to the dead Mona in which he worries about Pat's future.

NOW GO ON WITH THIS ENTHRALLING STORY.

Back copies may be secured at the Boston American office free.

CHAPTER XV.

"YET she has been taking a course in literature at the school."

"Science has no thrill for Pat, therefore she ignores it. Futile little courses in 'How to know things like flowers and birds and mushrooms have gone no deeper than the skin. No love of nature has been cultivated in them. She hardly knows the names of the great aviculturists. Emerson she recognizes through having seen his ravenly charmed and hoarse, undeveloped jargon about him. But mention Pastore or Melviloff and you would leave her groping and she doubtless would identify later as one who achieved fame by inventing a mouth wash. However, she could at once tell you the names of the fashionable physician to get to for nervous breakdown."

"Her economics are as vague as her sciences. Politics is a blank. But to be found ignorant of the most recent trend of the movies or the names of their heroes, or not to know the latest gag of some unrepentable columnist of the reviews—that would overwhelm her with shame. Her speech and her mind are largely a reflection of the contemporary scene. Not the stage of Shaw and O'Neill, but of bedroom farces and trite musical comedy. Thus far she compares unfavorably in education with the averages shop girl."

"In music and art the reckoning is better. But this again is largely inherited. If the Friedmans have not fostered, they

OPERATORS ARE NUNS LEAD 500 COUNTING VOTES CHILDREN OUT OF FIRE

The strike having been called by Boston teachers at the Children's Hospital, Tremont temple, Tuesday, and being indicated today, The result of the first vote in the annual election was announced today. It was as follows:

It is estimated 5,000 votes were cast. This vote in view of the three separate unions resulted in Boston is the largest on record in the union.

In 1915, 2,000 operators voted in strike, while 238 of their number voted negatively.

Many non-union operators entered the hall where the strike vote was being taken, proved their eligibility, paid their dues in advance, and voted. It is not known how many voted.

The purpose of the strike, if it is called, will be to attract the double of the operators for an increase in pay and a seven-hour day. Reports received from union leaders in other sections of New England indicate that a large number of operators will have the support of Dr. Frederick P. Jones, Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, who will conduct a part of the teaching by means of his diabetic service, should call on Dr. H. P. O. Brigham, Dr. H. P. Root, Dr. L. L. Sisco and Dr. Elliott P. Joslin.

Overcome by Fumes
Pawtucket, R. I., June 20.—Five hundred children, attended by the nuns, from St. Ann's Convent school, James Thomas Catholic parish, were when fire threatened eight buildings in other sections of the city, and damaged the convent tower.

Two buses were burned to death. A large hall, two garages, a three-story house and newly erected basement were destroyed, and other buildings were badly damaged.

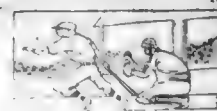

The fire started in the barn, where the horses were housed. It is believed to have been caused by children playing with matches in the hay.

The local fire department, unable to check the flames, called for assistance from Pawtucket. After a three-hour battle, lasting several hours, and during which the convent was threatened several times, the flames were gotten under control. The damage will approximate $25,000.

Our Burning Forests

Wastage of Timberlands Plays Important Part in High Cost of Living

The smoke which has been burning out our New England sun comes from the shutting forests in Maine. Over 20,000 square miles of precious timber is being destroyed by needless fire.

Recently 25,000 acres of wood were destroyed on Cape Cod by a fire carelessly set.

At the rate at which our great forests are being destroyed by the sabotage of reckless, selfish lumbermen and ignorant indifference of the national and State governments, we shall be stripped of one of our greatest sources of wealth in twenty years.

The utter, pathetic needlessness of it all is shown by the fact that in Europe, crowded for a thousand years, they still have their forests which yield to them an annual crop, but never passes away.

In America it is "everybody for himself, the devil take the hindmost." "This will last as long as we, after us the deluge."

The wastage of our forests plays a part in the increasing cost of rent and food and of living generally. When the forests are devastated there is nothing to hold back the snow on the mountains and hillsides, and the swollen waters rush down in cataracts, washing away the alluvial soil and depriving what is left of adequate moisture. So in wide regions the productivity of the soil and riverbanks, railroad tracks, bridges, houses and millions of national wealth are swept away.

It is a great pity and a great shame to us. And it exists because we have allowed private profiteers and bankers generally to run our great public functions and we have been obliged to fight to prevent our own creatures, acting for us as agents of our government, from robbing us, and we have had no time to watch equally selfish lumbermen and careless hunters and to build up an adequate forest service, both to prevent the spread of fire and to compel the replacement of trees.

The answer to the forest problem, as to so many other pressing problems, is the public operation of our railroads, gas and electric light companies, telephone and telegraph companies, and, if that problem troubles us any more, our coal mines. Then we shall have time to deal with the other pressing questions.

Can You Do Your Duty One Whole Day?

Copyright, 1925, Rex Connors

Did you ever try to do your duty one whole day? It is as hard as the entrance of the rich man into Heaven.

Let us suppose that you are an average man, normal in health and conscience. Your sense of duty will never rise above the level of your health and conscience, because:

- (1) Duty requires ENERGY, and ill-health kills energy.
- (2) Conscience dictates duty; and conscience (by consulting your Latin) is the KNOWING of ALL those things you OUGHT to do.

Some comrades who had been in the war with Spain gathered at a dinner some months ago. All of them agreed that lying was common among tropical people.

"Why?" asked one of the diners.

A clever man answered:

"To get at the truth so that you can tell it is a question of energy. Many tropical people are lazy."

The average man should hang, therefore, at the head of his bed the motto:

"KEEP FIT AND WORK."

The sense of duty, however, is an intuition. Developed in high or low degree, it was always there. A Hottentot mother with a brain once removed from an ape's knows she OUGHT to give her child food and drink. It is the essence of moral growth. You feel it always, in sleep or in drunkenness. When the eye opens on the morning light, it stands at the foot of your mattress and asks:

"Are you going to get up and take a cold bath, or are you going to lie there until it is time to go to work?"

It follows you to the breakfast table, and from its seat on the opposite chair inquires:

"One cup of that strong coffee is enough for a man of your nervous temperament. Will you drink another?"

If the cook has scrambled the eggs until they taste like golf balls, your friend opposite asks:

"Will you tell her she is a helpless fool, or will you beg her kindly to reform?"

Dr. Ought, your friend and constant companion, will never quit you this side of eternal damnation. If you ever miss him at your side, go jump off the Bridge, for you will afterwards harm your fellowmen. He is the only man that can call you a dog without insulting you. He only can praise without puffing up. To obey him one whole day is next to godly.

Try doing duty for a whole day! We would like to hear from someone who succeeded.

Those who have habitually done their duty only once in a while, whose duty-doing is guided by the weather or the impulses, will be surprised to know what they can do with themselves. Hundreds of men have CHOKED themselves into submission. Take the case of Charles Stewart Parnell, the great Irish leader. His temper as a young man seemed uncontrollable. He was expelled from Cambridge because he knocked down two men, one of whom, seeing him sitting at the side of a road, said: "Hallo, what's the matter with this 'ere cove?" His own lawyer admitted Parnell's fault, and the foolish display of his prowess cost him twenty-five guineas at the hands of the jury.

Not only anger, but embarrassment, overpowered him. In attempting to make his first speech, he almost fainted on the rostrum, and the discouraged voters elected another man.

Years afterward, Mr. Gladstone, speaking of Parnell when he held the balance of power in the British Empire, said:

Parnell was the most remarkable man I ever met.

I drew up (in a speech) a rather strong indictment against him. "Well, he sat still all the time, was quite unmovable. He listened attentively, courteously, but showed no feeling, no excitement, no concern. . . . The immobility of the man, the laconic way of dealing with the subject, his utter indifference to the opinion of the House—the whole thing was so extraordinary and so unlike what one was accustomed to under such circumstances."

THEATRE ON A STATE FARM

STORRS, Ct., June 20.—Among plans of the Connecticut State Agricultural College to "keep them down on the farm," a "Little Theatre" project for rural communities is to be put under way by Prof. H. A. Sackerson, head of the college English department, who believes Connecticut should follow the path of Western and Southern States.

So the professor is to tour Connecticut with his own "college players" and point the way. Then he intends to have every graduate of the college trained to lead players in the community where the graduate may settle after graduation.

Mother of Six

Editor Helping Hand:

I am the mother of six children. My husband left me eight months ago, and I am having a pretty hard time to get along.

My oldest boy, who wears a twelve-year size, is in need of a suit and shoes, size 2. Also my little boy, seven, and the baby, a year and a half, need clothes. I have almost nothing to wear myself and scarcely dare to appear in the streets. I wear size 44.

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young mother of eight young people who cannot go to school because they do not afford furniture. We are leaving the city and will almost give away what we have. Also send me the address of some one who has a large family of little ones, as I have a large family of little ones and a trimming box for them for the asking. MRS. G. C. Thank you. Your offers will be held for replies.

Sick Much of Time

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young mother of eighteen years of age. I am sick much of the time, and it takes all my husband's earnings to support the house and pay doctor's bills. I am badly in need of anything in the line of women's clothes, size 38, and shoes, size 44.

Editor Boston American:

Press accounts state the British representatives, misrepresenting India, protested the Porter resolution on the ground that the Hindus wanted opium for semi-medical purposes.

Perfidious Britain is up to her old methods of camouflageing her skirts. Not afraid of crushing and misruled poor, bleeding India, she's trying to defend her before the civilized world. For the sake of humanity let us break Britain's monopoly on opium.
